

Girls and High Heels

I am so blessed for I am given a chance to live a life as a girl. Although it is always said that girls suffer the most painful things on earth such as period and pregnancy, somehow we girls find joys in those things. "Period" tells us that we are grown ups; pregnancy tells us that we are going to bring the world new life. I believe most of the girls would like to consider them as blessings from the heaven. However, one blessing is missing. It is probably considered to be the biggest blessing to girls, the loveliest gift from Venus---high heels.

刪除: I always think that

Ever since girls were created to have feet, they are not only responsible for walking but they are also responsible for walking beautifully. In terms of this responsibility, how to walk beautifully becomes a big problem. Practise may seem to be the solution but remember that not all the girls are willing to spend time on it since laziness is always the deadly factor. Thus, a pair of high heels satisfies this tough challenge the best! This idea sounds ridiculous but according to my experience it is indeed a very good way. Before my 17th birthday, my mother always said that I walked like a boy. She thought that girls who walked with big pace and swinging arms were the ugliest creature in the world. Unfortunately her daughter was one of them. In order to make me become a 'real girl', my mother bought me a pair of lovely high heels which was accessorised with three little flowers on the vamp of it. The heel wasn't that high, but it suffered me a lot. I used to wear trainers to so wearing high heels is not comfortable for me. Although I took great pain walking with the high heels I actually somewhat enjoyed this kind of torturing. Wearing those high heels, I did walk more elegantly than before. I guess that it was because of the special construction of the high heels, once girls step on them they will be in fear of falling down on the street in front of strangers embarrassingly. That is probably the reason why girls love high heels.

Moreover, the other reason why high heels can enable girls to walk elegantly is the design. There are always sparkling things, colourful leathers on their surfaces and small heels on the back of them...etc. All these things make the high heels look amazingly fairy. Once we girls step on it, we immediately feel like the stars of Hollywood gracefully walking on the red carpet with our fabulous high heels! High heels turn every boring moment into magical celebration! It is more wonderful than Disney Land! Because of this, it is impossible to reject their charming attraction. We girls are all bewitched by the high heels.

High heels are definitely the biggest gifts from heaven even though we girls suffer the pain they bring when we are walking. Yet, as long as we can bear the pain, high heels will be our favourite things in life. At last, there is something I have to say “high heels, we girls will never get enough of you!”

It is an interesting writing toward the contradictory relationship between girls and high heels. You point out this confliction precisely. However, there are three suggestions I would like to remind you:

1. Too many words are repeated in the writing. You may try to substitute them with other synonyms. In that way, readers will not feel bored to read your work.
2. There are so many verbal expressions which are not allowed in writing.
3. Please reduce the unnecessary sentences. Overly explanations only bring the feeling of nagging endlessly.
